Scenario:

Micheals best friend, Caleab is turning 24 this weekend. He has invited Michael and a couple of their friends to come out to his favorite restaurant and enjoy a meal as well as nice quality time to catch up with one another. Michael is not used to this kind of environment. He is very anxious and feels very uneasy about this invitation. As much as he wants to cancel, Caleb has been his best friend since they were 3 years old. He makes the decision to go because he knows that this means a lot to his best friends. Because he refrains from touching anything that doesn't belong to him, Michael will only be using the app to order his meal and communicate with whomever will be handling his order.

User Story:

I am Michael and I classify myself as a germaphobe. Anything I feel like includes germs I tend to keep away from. Especially because of my past, I am afraid that just about anything out in the real world will cause harm to me due to germs. I am tired of living in fear and would like to experience a normal life for once. I want to go out and eat with friends like a normal person and enjoy quality time anywhere but in my apartment as I have been stuck there half my life due to fear of germs.
